(*) Revised Definition of a Triptych

(The following definition should be followed for this year's Digital Triptych Competition on the 15th March)

“A triptych is a presentation made up of three (and only three) distinctly separated photographic images displayed on a common background.

The background should complement the presentation of the three images but must not become a significant “fourth image” in the message of the triptych’s three images.

The only restriction on the arrangement of the triptych’s three images is that they must not meet or overlap.

There is no requirement that the three images must be either the same size or the same shape.

Added borders, drop shadows etc. are allowed.”
